

Multi-Trade Operative

Applicants can apply anywhere from within the South East

We are Reactive Zero Two and we provide repair and project services to some of the UK's leading retail, hospitality and logistic businesses. With a breadth of services in house utilising our own tradesmen, resources and plant, we are able to help our customers out whatever their maintenance, emergency or project needs are.

Our team is friendly, knowledgeable and we love what we do. We are proud of our expertise and passionate about the high-quality service we deliver to all of our customers.

Join our team as Multi-Trade Operative

We have an opportunity for new multi trade operatives to join us and continue to provide the service that sets us out as an industry leader. We are looking for Multi-Trade Operatives to join our team for carrying out responsive repairs, PPM's and full-scale project works on commercial and industrial properties across London and the South-East relative to the location you are based from. The role will include both lone working at times and regular team working at other times and you will work alongside a long serving management team, who are dedicated to providing the support to the customers and also to the tradesmen on site.

The role

We are looking for someone to join us in the role of a Multi-Trade Operative. Location can be based anywhere within greater London or outside.
